

The Six Things I Learned

"While Burning Leaves"

Lesson #1

Very dry leaves ignite
very quickly – and burn
at an accelerated rate.

Lesson #2

Very dry leaves require no combustible liquid (especially not gasoline) to ignite quickly and burn at an accelerated rate.

Lesson #3

Combustible liquid (especially gasoline)
ignites quicker than you think and also burns at an accelerated rate
when vaporized,
somewhat like an explosion.

Lesson #4

If you failed to learn lessons 1 through 3, remember to “Stop, Drop, and Roll” when you ignite very quickly and burn at an accelerated rate.

Lesson #5

Burned body hair (eyebrows, eyelashes,
arm hair, facial hair,
etc.) stinks, looks funny,
but grows back very quickly.

Lesson #6

Burned skin, on the other hand, smells bad and doesn't grow back so quickly – not to mention, it also hurts, or so I've heard.
